PROGRAM AT A GLANCE

Employment Law Boot Camp

Bullivant's Boot Camp provides practical management training and techniques for supervisors, managers, HR professionals, and business owners. The training will empower participants to deal with the tough issues they face when managing employees. You will learn how to recognize and handle issues of discrimination, harassment, ill and injured workers, discipline, evaluation, overtime, immigration, and pay issues.

Learn management communication skills necessary during these tough times surrounding such issues as: reductions in force, pay reductions, furloughs, and cutbacks. This Boot Camp applies to employers with operations throughout Oregon, Washington, and California.

We will review new state and federal laws from 2009. In addition, there will be a discussion of the cases and statutes that are on the horizon for 2010, and how those potential new laws may impact employers and their practices.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

An employer's most powerful weapon for avoiding employment lawsuits is a well-trained manager. All supervisors, managers, and HR professionals working the front lines should attend. New managers and supervisors who have not had previous HR training or experience should also attend.

SCHEDULE – Tuesday, April 20, 2010
